

Delivering an Effective Technical Presentation

Dr. Ronald Rockland,
Professor, Engineering Technology/Biomedical Engineering
Chair, Department of Engineering Technology, NJIT

Communicating your ideas is a key element to success, and the use of PowerPoint is one method. However, there is a need to understand how to best utilize this application, and how to deliver effectively these technical presentations. The presenter has taught students, faculty and business executives various techniques to effectively create and deliver these presentations.